"Approaching Autumn" shows a view of the Dock campus from the pond and is layered with the concept of approaching. Approaching means to draw closer to, to take preliminary steps toward accomplishment or full knowledge or experience. In the painting, a new season is approaching, a new year. We sense change coming in the colors, the hint of old and new reflecting in the water. The fountain sends water into the air as a symbol of our voices approaching God with praise. The ducks swimming toward one another and the students talking by the pond patio invite us to consider the importance of seeking and nurturing relationships as we approach God's kingdom.

"The Springhouse"

by Berdine Leinbach ('83)

Limited Edition Lithograph

Signed and numbered up to 500

Image size: 12.75" x 18" on 16" x 20" paper
$65

"The Springhouse" shows the view on Christopher Dock's campus from the Detweiler House steps toward the springhouse when the rhododendrons are in bloom. The four blossoms represent the growth from freshman to sophomore to junior to senior year. The large tree represents the well-rooted faculty and staff working together. The springhouse represents the strength and stability of CD as an educational institution. The spring itself represents the life-giving power of the love of God.

Christopher Dock Byers' Choice Caroler

The Advancement Office has commissioned Byers' Choice (Chalfont, PA) to create more figurines of Christopher Dock, the Skippack schoolmaster (1718-1771) who prayed daily for his students, and for whom Christopher Dock Mennonite High School is named. Profits from this figurine will be used for the Rosenberger Academic Center campaign—providing facilities for our students' education, just as Christopher Dock provided for his students over 200 years ago.

The figurine is available now at Detweiler House, just in time for that special Christmas gift. The Christopher Dock caroler is $75 for one figurine and $70 each for an order of three or more. All pricing includes tax and packaging. Phone the office (215.362.2675) to place your order before they're all gone.
